If Republicans stand tast by their principles the party will get two Democratic for every Greenback accession, possible with fusion, and at the woold be buried at the polls beyond the hope of resurrection.

Two consul generalships are charged up to West Virginia, at the State Department at Washington, viz: James Riley Weaver, Consul General at Vienna, and David H. Strother, Consul General at the City of Mexico. Weaver was a professor at Morgantown for a short time, and had the geod luck to marry a daughter of Bishop Simpson. His marriage got him his appointment, and as Pennsylvania was overchecked in the way of offices it was found convenient to charge Riley up to West Virginia. Col. Strother, (Porte Orayon), is a West Virginian sure enough, or rather he used to be when he lived at Berkeley Springs.

Last Republican Convention.

A correspondent asks for the number of delegates in a Republican National Convention. Each State has a delegation twice the size of its Electoral vote, which makes the total vote of the States in the Convention 738. There are eight Territories and one District, each of which has two delegates, making the total vote of the Convention 739. A majority—379 votes—vices of the Convention 730. A majority—379 votes—viced in the county of the content of the Convention 750. A majority—379 votes—viced in the county of the content of the convention when the convention 750. OHIO COUNTY AND PUSION.

The View Taken of the Convention Pro-ceedings by the Morgantown Junta.

under the caption "Ohio County Speaks," omments on the resultions adopted by our convention on the 1st inst., saying there was not a dissenting voice to the usion programme. It gives in full the esolution which it construes to mean fuion. The resolution is as follows:

Wheat crops splendid in Marshall county.

A Telegraph office has been established at Claysville, on the Hempfield. Claysville is looking up. It has a good weekly paper.

The wool Market east, looks a little weak, but has no positive tone, one way or the other. It is regarded with a good deal of distrust by wool men in this part of the country.

The Marshall county Republicans have chosen delegates not only to the State Convention of next Wednesday, but to the County Convention and the State nominating convention and the State nominating convention to be hereafter called.

The New State Gazette, Democratic paper published in Marshall county, booms for Sheriff Tingle and Col. Alec Campbell for Congress. No word of comfort for Col. Ben. Again we repeat that the Colonel's fences are down and the wild animals loose.

Judge for West Virginia since the summer of 1861, at which time he was appointed by President Lincoin through the influence of John S. Carille. His salary is $3,500 per year. pointed by President Lincoin through the influence of John S. Carlile. His salary is $3,500 per year.

The Morgantown Dominion (Dem.) comes out sgainst nominations for county offices, and the Ritchie Gazette (Rep.) endorses the suggestion. The idea is to let everybody run who desires to do so, and carried to the state of Ohio at their Convenion held May with or without respect to politics, as they may desire.

Rev. Fullerrox, of Moundsville, is getting up a single issue of a paper to be called the Moundsville Methodist, in which he proposes to comprehend a sort of local history of Methodism in that vicinity. It will of course take in a full history of the camp ground and ought to be quite an interesting compendium.

There is a national bank at the village of Burgatistown, Washington county, Pa. and it has a capital of $80,000, a surplus of $2,563 65, an undivided profit of $3,565 50. W. L. Archer, the famous wool grower, is one of the directors, and J. L. Patterson is the cashier. It has a deposit account of $82,944 89.

Dr. Wallace wants to be the Republican Congressman again from the Washington, Pa., district. The Reporter says that so unsavory is the memory of the late lamented John R. Hubbard carried Ohio county for Congress in 1878, by nearly $50 majority, which won honest money platform the late lamented John R. back speech in the campaign of 157s in this county, and maintained his consistency on the 117s in this county, and maintained his consistency on the 11th, was Mr. Keek, who showed his contempt for the mongrel proceedings by wholly ignoring its existence. But the second thought has induced the opinion now freely expressed by leasing Democrats, "that the proper persons were not allowed to conduct the meeting; that many respectable Democrats declined to participate; and that the scum came to the surface," Ac. Greensteers, how do you like that:

The paper contains.

The paper containing the above was sent to convert me to fusion. After its perusal it occurred to me that if any one, Mr. Keck, of the five prominent Greenbackers named, and the innumerable throng unnamed, remain firm in their allegiance to the Greenback principles and organization, Mr. Henry S. Walker's wing of the fusion forces will be small in Monongalia county, and if small there, why not for the same reason, whatever it may be, be small in the other counties of the State? And if so, the swing of victory, of which the Post speaks, will not get its nomination and direction from the Greenbackers in West Virginia.

T. J. Huous.

Wheeling, May 7, 1880 The paper containing the above was Moundsville, is being talked of in our county as a candidate for Governor. Mr.

BUNDY VS. BEALL, That is, Wm. E. Bundy, of Belment Coun-ty, vs. Ninian Beall, of Ohio County, in the Matter of Sheep.

The high price of wool last year and the prospective high price this year have set the farmers crazy on sheep. It is noticeable, too, that most of them are trying to improve their grades. Common sheep, improve their grades. Common sheep, such as shear from four to six pounds of wool a year, are not much sought after. We had the pleasure, the order day, of examining the splendid flock of Merinos owned by William E. Bundy, near this place. Mr. Bundy raises only the pure has now over a hundred as fine sheep as are to be found in this country, and they tare well worth looking at. A farmer who has been taught to look upon an 8 pound fleece as extra large would be surprised to see yearling lambs averaging from ten to thirteen pounds to the fleece; yet all of Mr. Bundy's lambs so far sheared have produced just such fleeces.

In fact the pile of wool looked bigger than the sheep would if piled up. His buck Lion, yielded twenty-three pounds of wool this spring, and the buck Dick, only two years old, sheared twenty-seven and three-quarters pounds of wool yearly. We took the pains to measure the fibers on some of the sheep, and none of them were less than three inches in length, while on some of the sheep the wool is five inches long. Of course it costs no more to keep thoroughbred sheep than common ones, while the yield of wool is from two to three times as great. Mr. Bundy keeps a register of his flock, and knows them better than Brigham Young knows his children. He is thoroughly posted on fine sheep.
